Fall, 2022 Speaker Series Begins

Sept. 7, 7 PM

In light of the recent Supreme Court decision, Catholics need to listen more deeply to the experiences of women confronting the challenges of promoting life for the unborn, for their families, and for themselves. What do women need from public policy, from Church communities to make the choice for life possible?

Abortion and Life

Association of Pittsburgh Priests calls on Catholic leaders to develop new pastoral, spiritual approach regarding abortion and the culture of life - June 13, 2022

Background

No matter what side (or middle) of this complex legal and moral debate one is on, it is the opinion of the APP that our Church, like much of our society, has failed to demonstrate a serious pastoral concern for abortion victims – including the fetuses who might never be born, the women who find themselves in dire situations with nowhere to turn, and the great mass of society that closes its eyes and ears to their cry for help.

Statement

(APP) calls upon our Church leaders and people in the pews to develop a new and dynamic “Pastoral Culture of Life” in which the people of God learn to better minister to each other, appreciating the complexities we face in relation to the issue of life...
